HONEY LAROCHELLE PERFORMANCE REEL

A prolific songwriter and vocal producer, Honey has worked on recordings with everyone from Macy Gray and Allen Stone to Donny Osmond. GRAMMY award winning duo, A Great Big World, released their hit single “Already Home,” co-written by Larochelle, on Epic records.

In her own artistry, Honey has been able to share her original music accross the world. After releasing her classic soul album, The Yes Feeling, followed by her EDM inspired EP, Hijack, she now delivers her latest official release, a reggae soul project, 11:11.

For this album, Honey blends her soulful
melodies and harmonies
with Danish super producer
Pharfar's reggae dancehall production to create a group of feel-good songs that tell stories and soothe in a genre
she's affectionately coined
"Irie Soul."

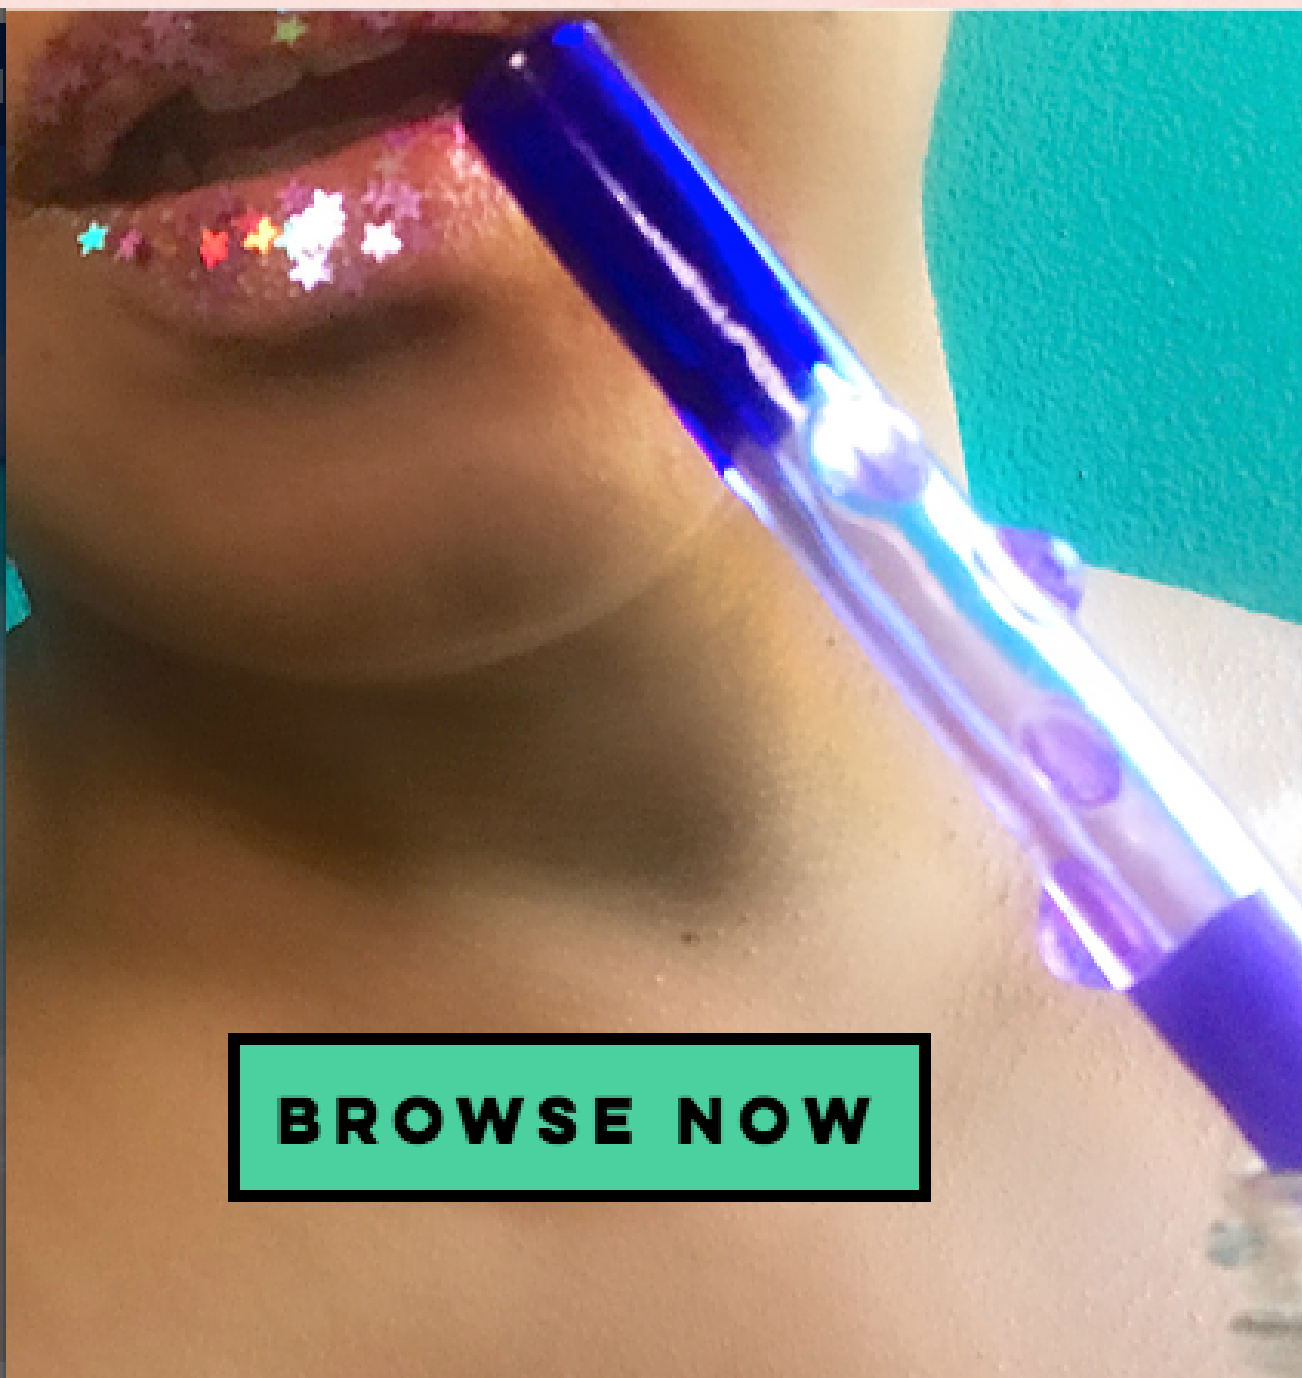

VIDEOS

Currently, Honey tours around the US and the world performing her original works, teaching "Indie Artist Success" workshops, or featuring as a special guest with various artists and bands. All the while she continues writing and recording new material.

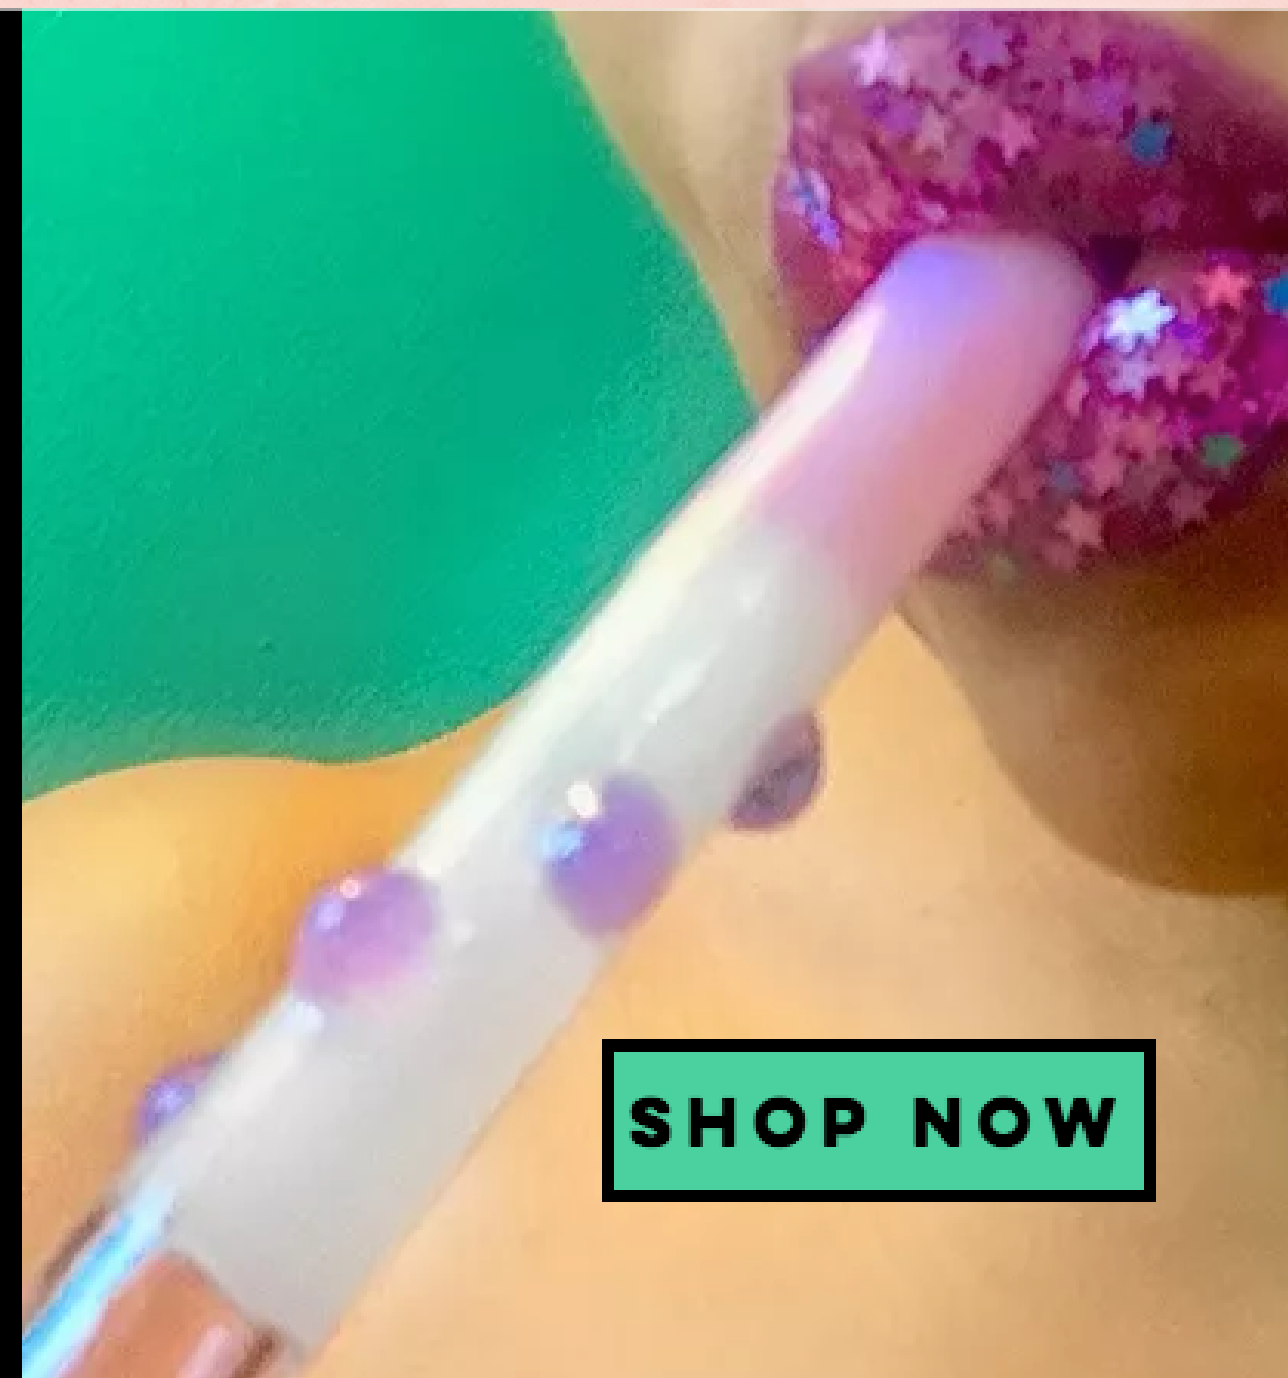

Her latest venture is one of activism. After learning that over 500 million plastic straws are dumped in the ocean daily she created her own line of handmade pyrex glass straws. “They are each a work of art that can help save the world. I’m really looking forward to seeing them being used more regularly as human habits begin to change as consciousness begins to increase. It’s a really worthwhile conversation”

REVIEW

2018 brought the likes of Chante Moore, a veteran singer, known for soulful, melodic ballads, and newcomer Honey LaRochelle, who looked to prove herself on the main stage for the first time. Moore performed alongside Everette Harp and Doc Powell. LaRochelle was brought onstage by Marcus Miller.

Both Moore and LaRochelle brought their unique styles to the forefront and gave their all. Moore's star power along with her winning smile helped boost her performance even in the times when her songs seemed forced.

LaRochelle, walking on stage with nothing to lose and everything to gain, brightened the stage in a yellow-themed outfit that shined like the sun with energy. Her vocals seemed flawless and came off effortless as she covered many of Marcus Miller's songs and interacted with his already energetic style.

Premiere: The Allergies - 'Dance Now'

The Bristol based dancefloor team are back...

ROBIN MURRAY / NEWS / 04 · 09 · 2018

Ever prolific Bristol duo The Allergies have an absurdly large record collection.

True crate diggers, the pair absorb everything from hip-hop to funk to techno, distilling this into their supremely energetic DJ sets.

It's the pair's own music that makes The Allergies such an addictive proposition, though, explicitly tailor made for the dancefloor.

"We like breaks, funky basslines, horns, and dancefloor grooves. We're inspired by the golden eras of funk, soul, disco and hip-hop, and we try and cram that into three and a half minutes" clarifies DJ Moneyshot.

New album 'Steal The Show' is incoming, due for release on October 19th it's led by new single 'Dance Now' (pre-order LINK).

A supremely poised return, it's an action-packed funk workout

Self-described: "Original. Imaginative. Ridiculous. Origimagidiculous."

First Glance: These guys knew a good thing when they saw it: The five already-slick and well-balanced guys of Voice Play realized they needed a stellar female voice and added Honey LaRochelle (which is a human, not, like, a fancy lotion).

Let the music speak: The only video of the newly updated group dynamic shows major potential on "Get Lucky" by Daft Punk.

The Sing-Off premieres December 9th at 9 p.m. ET. I know who I think could take it all the way — do you?

SUGAR & SPIKES TATTOO FEATURE: BADASS SINGER HONEY LAROCHELLE

Honey LaRochelle creates the kind of music where the funk drives into your soul and before you know it, you are rocking your whole body with your stank face on! Honey has been performing ever since she was 5 years old and was practically raised in soul and rock music with her mother who has sung with Marvin Gaye, Bryan Adams and Bon Jovi. It's easy to see that Honey's "Stankface Music" is a genre that was long in the making. After years of singing lead for The Brand New Heavies, and performing with artists including Joss Stone, Macy Gray and Roberta Flack, Honey is releasing her first solo album, "The Yes Feeling". She is dedicated to her music and even has inked a small treble clef tattooed on her Solar Plexus. It's a genuine and honest ode to the love of her art form and this is something you can feel when she belts out her music.

Honey has also started a Kickstarter campaign to raise funds to help push out her solo album. She is the label. It's this leap she has
